Dear Dr. Uytico,

May the seminar serve as a platform for your expertise and insights to guide educators and students in navigating the complexities of a borderless, global academic community!

The Graduate School of the Guimaras State University is delighted to announce its forthcoming seminar, "GLOBAL HORIZONS: INTERNATIONALIZATION OF HIGHER EDUCATION: GLOBAL TRENDS AND ASEAN REALITIES," a gathering set to take place on December 14, 2024, from 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM at the Iloilo Grand Hotel—an event designed to spark conversations on education's evolving global paradigm.

This event seeks to respond to the expanding awareness and enthusiasm for exploring opportunities in international higher education (IHE) on a global scale. As governments and institutions increasingly prioritize the internationalization of higher education systems, this initiative centers on cultivating global collaborations and empowering Filipino educators and graduate students with the expertise and competencies needed to navigate and excel in an interconnected, borderless academic world.

The seminar will feature distinguished keynote speakers and resource persons who will provide insights into global trends, best practices, and ASEAN realities in the context of international higher education. This is an excellent opportunity for educators to enhance their understanding of global educational frameworks and contribute to developing strategies that will strengthen academic standards, research, and innovation in their respective institutions.

In this regard, we kindly request your endorsement of this seminar to DepEd teachers in your region. Their participation will provide valuable opportunities for professional growth, exposure to global trends in education, and collaboration with other educators. We believe this seminar aligns closely with the Department of Education's commitment to advancing the professional development of teachers and fostering innovative practices in education.
